Keller is a leading international ground engineering contractor. From its origin in 1860 to the present day, Keller has been built on two things above all – engineering excellence and a commitment to continual innovation.

Keller's business is the solution of soil and foundation problems for the construction industry. From operating centres in Europe, North America and Australia, Keller has worked in virtually every country in the world.

Keller services are used across the entire construction spectrum from industrial, commercial housing and infrastructure projects to the specialised requirements arising from renovation and environmental contracting.
